

- (b) Listen to the dialogue of the dog. There are some words missing. Your teacher reads aloud the dialogue. Listen to him/her and fill in the gaps.

Fair or not, I don't _____. But this is the usual treatment we get from our _____. Look at me ! When I was _____ and useful to my master and _____ his house and helped him _____, he treated me with _____ and gave me good _____ to eat. Now I am _____ and _____ and half-blind . Does my master _____ me for my past services ?

3 Speaking:

- (a) Let's do the following dialogue.

Tiger : Ha, Ha, Ha! I'm out. I'll kill you.

Brahman : Please don't kill me. I helped you.

Tiger : Helped me? How? When?

Brahman : Just now. I opened the door of the cage.

Tiger : You're good at helping. Now help yourself, Brahman.

- (b) When we speak English or read aloud a paragraph, we should speak the message carrying words with stress(in a little more loudness).

e.g. Where are you going ? Stress on the underlined words.

I'm going to Puri.

Now let's read the following sentences taken from the text following the rules. Your teacher will read out them for you with due stress. Listen to him/her and repeat after him/her.

1. Let me out of this cage.
2. I cannot trust you.
3. The tiger was caught in a trap.
4. I will serve you as a slave.
5. I give shade and shelter to everyone.
6. Now I am old and weak.
7. The trap is too small to hold you.

(c) Chain-drill: First two sentences from the lesson.

"Let me out of the cage

I can't trust you."

Session - 6

4 Vocabulary:

(a) Fill in the blanks choosing the right word given in brackets.

[usual, loses, expect, repay, slave, ungrateful]

1. The tiger was _____ to the Brahman.
2. I will serve you as a _____ for my whole life.
3. You must be a fool to _____ gratitude from any man or beast.
4. This is the _____ treatment we get from our masters.
5. The tiger _____ patience and at once jumps into the trap.
6. The Brahman asks the tiger, "Is this the way to _____ kindness?"

5 Usage:

(a) Mark the word 'ungrateful' in the following sentences.

"You cruel, ungrateful beast!" (Un+ grateful)

It is the opposite word of 'grateful'.

We make it adding (the negative prefix) 'un' to it. So , just adding 'un' to some words we can get the opposite words with negative meanings.

Can you make opposite words of the following words in the similar way adding 'un'? Let's do it. The first one is done for you.

- | | | | |
|----------|---------------|---|--------|
| 1. able | un + able | = | unable |
| 2. kind | _____ + _____ | = | _____ |
| 3. fair | _____ + _____ | = | _____ |
| 4. usual | _____ + _____ | = | _____ |
| 5. sure | _____ + _____ | = | _____ |

(b) Now complete the following paragraph using suitable words from the list above.

Once a tiger fell into a trap. He tried but was _____ to come out. He saw a Brahman and asked him to open the cage. The Brahman was a kind-hearted man. He never wanted to be _____ to anybody. But it was a tiger. He was bit _____ of his behaviour. The tiger understood it. So he promised never to be ungrateful to the Brahman for his help. The Brahman believed it and opened the cage. Soon the tiger came out and showed very _____ behaviour. He wanted to kill and eat the Brahman. It was really a very _____ act on the part of the tiger

Session - 7

6 Writing:

(a) Answer the following questions in the space provided below.

(i) Where did the tiger fall in ?

(ii) Who helped the tiger to come out of the trap ?

(iii) What did the tiger want to do with the Brahman ?

(iv) Whom did the tiger and the Brahman meet ?

(v) Who finally helped the Brahman ?

(vi) Was the jackal foolish, mad or clever ?
